Year 1 Class Blog - Little Red Hens

This week in Little Red Hen class, we learnt how to be a knight. We watched a video and then read a book on knights. We discussed what a knight does and their duties and wrote these onto a scroll. In the afternoon we learnt how to be a knight! We completed an obstacle course, pushed a teddy of a table using a lance, pretended to fight and saved a princess by swimming across a swamp. We had a fantastic day!

Year 4 Class Blog - The Borrowers

In Borrowers class this week we have been making our own volcanoes. We made them out of card and paper. After this we got to create our own volcanic explosion using vinegar, baking soda and washing up liquid. We've also been researching the events of Mount Vesuvius and its affects on the cities of Pompeii. We have found out that Pompeii has been buried under a thick carpet of lava and ash. To help us with our research we read the book 'Escape to Pompeii' and created freeze frames of different scenes.
